

POWERFUL E-BLAST PROMOS

for reaching the influential readers of Litigation Support Today!

TAKE ADVANTAGE of this unique marketing communications program to send your message directly to Litigation Support Today's exclusive list of top litigation support professional subscribers! During the year a limited number of special marketing emails are being made available to give you direct access to our influential readers across the nation and around the world! Now you can contact them one-on-one by email, through this special program for direct response to your offers, webinars, white papers or other marketing communications.

- 36 Email opportunities available over a 12-month schedule.
- Only three opportunities open within each month of the year. First come, served! Reserve your spots now!
- Each email message must conform to a standard layout template provided by Litigation Support Today, consisting of simple text and one prominent illustration.
- Advertisers should include a special offer or event (such as a invitation to a webinar or demo) to attract greater interest and interaction.
- Each email message is sent directly from Litigation Support Today to the subscriber with an introductory message from the magazine. Advertisers do not send directly to our subscriber list, and the list is not provided or sold to advertisers for their direct use.
- All messages submitted by advertisers are subject to review and approval by the publisher, and publisher may reject any at its own discretion.
- Reach approximately 9,000 proprietary email addresses, subscribers of Litigation Support Today.

HOW IT WORKS

Your email message is placed within a plain border frame under the banner logo of Litigation Support Today and it is sent directly from the magazine to the readers. The Litigation Support Today banner includes a separate note from the editor to the readers introducing your company and your message. For your message you provide us with the following:

- Your plain text message up to 300 words in Word.doc format.
- Your logo or small image such as photo or screen shot, maximum size 450 px wide by 400 px high.

Litigation Support Today utilizes the standard ConstantContact online email program for sending email messages to readers (www.constantcontact.com). Your message must conform to the specifications of this simple program. We will copy your message and image into the ConstantContact program and match it as near as possible to your Word.doc layout. Please note: we cannot guarantee an exact match to your type style or Word.doc layout due to limitations in the design factors available within the ConstantContact program. Prior to sending, you will receive a checking proof of your E-Blast for review and final approval.
